

The Libertarian Party will bring real choice to the abortion debate

“The Libertarian Party will fight to keep abortion safe and legal,

but we also feel a compromise is needed to ensure that the deeply held views of pro-life Canadians are respected. If elected, I will work to protect the freedom of conscience of pro-life medical workers and taxpayers by getting the federal government out of the business of financing abortions and pro-choice advocacy groups,” Dennis Young, Leader of the Libertarian Party.

Pro-life Canadians have been ignored and mistreated by the Harper Tories.

Stephen Harper has refused to allow debate on abortion and has said that he will work against any move that would prohibit federal healthcare funding from being spent by the provinces on abortion. Harper has also abandoned pro-life Conservative MP Ken Epp and his private members bill that would make it a crime to kill an unborn baby while committing a violent attack on the mother.
